the appeal of steel

A sleek, modern kitchen:
intelligent and perfectly formed

The desire to adopt a more professional look in the kitchen has never been so high on the interior design agenda. Overflowing with stainless steel appliances and accessories, the professional kitchen is full of style, with an industrial look and aesthetic appeal.

Something of a fashion statement, stainless steel is a 'must have' for any well-dressed kitchen and has a number of practical attributes. Hygienic, resistant and highly durable, stainless steel performs well in a kitchen environment, and is unquestionably one of the most popular current choices.

In this hip and happening kitchen, the walls have been lined with the latest in stainless steel appliances, with an eye-level stainless steel double oven to cut out all that bending and lifting. Paired with a built-in, five-ringed hob with splash back and chimney hood, it wouldn't look out of place in any professional's kitchen. A stainless steel washing machine, tumble dryer and dishwasher complete the 'wall of steel' look. For the ultimate in refrigeration, what could be better than this matching freestanding stainless steel fridge-freezer? Tall and sleek, appliances don't come any cooler than this.

The industrial theme has been carried through to a full complement of classy steel-finish toasters, storage and freestanding bins. The look is completed by metallic racked shelving and sleek steel hanging rods for all those nifty gadgets. To bring the whole kitchen to life, the coolness of the stainless steel has been offset by warm wooden floor and wall units and vibrantly coloured walls.

a new lease of life

Transform a kitchen
with style

You've cleaned the kitchen from top to bottom and polished everything until your hands are raw, yet the kitchen still looks the same. If you're fed up with looking at the same old kitchen and using dated, inefficient appliances, don't despair.

There's a hundred and one ways of transforming the look.

But you don't have to start from scratch – take a look at what you've already got. OK, so the wallpaper and the old flooring will have to go, and the cooker that's seen better days will most definitely have to be replaced. But the kitchen units are fine and the storage is okay.

Start your kitchen overhaul with a new cooker. You've been wanting to change it for years, so now's your chance. Go for one of the many stylish models available, opting for a design that suits your needs. Also think about the aesthetics of your cooker, considering colours and styles that complement your design. It's amazing how the look of a cooker can totally transform the appearance of a kitchen.

It's often the finer details that make all the difference to a kitchen. With space at a premium, have a bit of a clear out and free up all that previously unused space. If this includes throwing away that harvester biscuit jar that you bought when the kids were still around, so be it. Enhance this new-found space by encouraging more light into the room. Brighten up the walls with a lick of paint and new tiling, and lay practical flooring in keeping with the modern farmhouse style. Wake up kitchen units with new, sophisticated handles and display copper saucepans and cookware.

Make cooking a more enjoyable experience by treating your kitchen to the makeover it has been waiting for.

talents With so many models now available, you'll be spoilt for choice with the latest integrated appliances

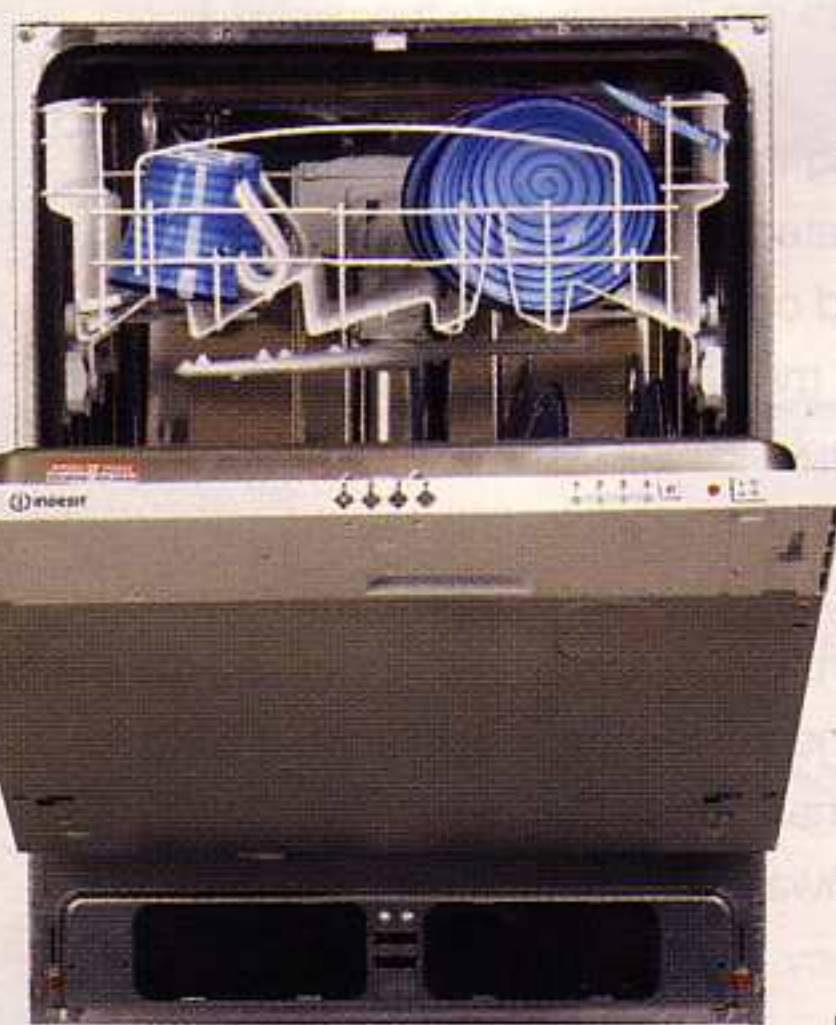

If you're fed up with looking at the same old mishmash of appliances in your kitchen, get into integration. A perfect form of disguise, integrated appliances sit neatly in any fitted kitchen whilst being cleverly concealed behind a styled door front. With a room full of matching doors and drawers, the integrated kitchen creates a no-fuss, streamlined space, where appliances won't spoil the look of the kitchen.

Clean and dust-free, integrated appliances have an added advantage for those of us with young children. Hidden from young prying eyes, integrated appliances should hopefully reduce the temptation of little ones trying to give the cat a shampoo in the washing machine or bath teddy in the dishwasher.

So what are the options? Integrated washing machines, dishwashers, fridges and freezers are available in a multitude of designs, in a choice of fully or semi-integrated styles. Pick a fully integrated appliance if you want it to be completely concealed. A fully integrated dishwasher, for instance, will have a full-length door, with a control panel neatly hidden on the top edge of the door. Alternatively opt for a semi-integrated appliance where control panels are on display. The door front will be fitted up to the draw line height and in style with the rest of the kitchen.

Although out of sight, don't be tempted to compromise on your choice of appliance. Go for the very best that suits your needs. Take into account the appliance's functionality and performance and make sure it fits into the space allowed.

So if you want to inject some integration into your kitchen, or simply want to upgrade your existing appliances, check out some of the latest designs. There's so much choice at Comet.
